

City of Parksville
Town of Qualicum Beach
Regional District of Nanaimo

NEWS RELEASE

December 23, 2018

Warming Centre to Remain Open

For Parksville-Qualicum Beach residents still without power following the windstorm earlier this week, the warming centre set up at the Qualicum Beach Civic Centre (747 Jones Street, Qualicum Beach) will remain open until at least December 24 at 6 pm. Emergency Management Oceanside was advised today that BC Hydro expects many areas will have power restored by Christmas Day.

Hosted by Emergency Management Oceanside, Emergency Support Services volunteers will continue to provide support and information for those affected by the storm. Also available at the Qualicum Beach Civic Centre for Parksville-Qualicum residents still without power is access to showers, the ability to charge mobile devices and a warm beverage.

The warming centre will be open today, Sunday, December 23 until 6 pm and tomorrow, Monday, December 24 from 9 am to 6 pm. Please check the City of Parksville website and the City of Parksville Facebook page tomorrow for information on additional days for the warming centre should it be necessary.

###

For more information:

Deb Tardiff, Manager of Communications
dtardiff@parksville.ca; 250 248-0846